1919 Wiggins Avenue

NEIGHBORHOOD

This stately home sits securely tucked away within the confines of an exclusive community with its own police force and a century old Country Club that hosts the qualifying round for the U.S. Open. Situated just moments away from Washington Park, the sounds of nature and music from the Carillon provide a stimulating backdrop for the health and environmental enthusiast. Mature trees line the streets and pave the way for a beautiful walk in the park that leads to the rose garden - a picturesque setting for a picnic.

the future. As a result, the home was refortified with over fifty thousand bricks to create an 8000 ft. structure that combines the best of both worlds – the old and new. Re-wired, re-plumbed with 4 new HVAC systems and redesigned utilizing commercial standards for today's discriminating connoisseur of quality who values include -- both innovation and tradition. After a 12 month transformation, the structure standing today is as unique to the area as the developer's intense dedication to the most intricate architectural detail leading up to, around and above each window and doorway.

EDUCATIONAL COMMUNITY
The central location is convenient for families with school aged children, as there are a variety of private, magnet or public schools in district 186 from which to choose. Teens in the family can drive, take public transportation or even bike through the park to nearby Springfield High School or Sacred Heart Griffin. In addition, a whole academic world of higher education lies within the city -- University of Illinois at Springfield, Benedictine University/Springfield College of Illinois and Lincoln Land Community College and the Southern Illinois University School of Medicine in the heart of the Mid-Illinois Medical District.
